Working Towards Capital Improvements

Grants, grants and even more grants are needed to get the work done. Progress is most definitely slow and in order to acquire grant funding there is a lot of work that has to be done before we even get to the point of a project being executed. As part of the preliminary work for the Museum and Event Center project the Airport did acquire two grants, one in the amount of $1,425,000 (to redo the main parking lot) and a second one for $1,163,000 (to build a new parking lot for the proposed building) and this is after the Airport invested money of their own to even apply for the grants. The building itself is still in plan check with the City, and we expect approval any time. Once we get approval construction will begin.

The Airport also applied for the RAISE grant with the Department of Transportation which was going to address the reconstruction of 13th Street. Unfortunately, because of politics and the current administration money has been pulled back and put on hold, so we will look at different avenues and ways we can address and do these upgrades.

The Pavement Management System has also been prepared and updated for the Airport and as we are all aware there are many areas that could use some attention. In this plan there have been (9) Pavement projects totaling $21.1 million identified and needed for the Airport. A meeting is being scheduled with the FAA to discuss the game plan on how we will get the funding to do such improvements over time. Though Stephen Dunn officially retired and moved to Iowa, he does still work remotely on both the current grants and any new potential grant sources we can qualify for. The need is great and any funding we can get to chip away at these projects is a win for us but takes work and effort to even get to the point where we are awarded the grant. The continued success of the Airport is tied to many of these grants because without them, the Airport could never afford to do these projects on their own accord.

Question of the Month – Answer

The AIM (Section 7-4) describes the major flyways for migratory birds, wherein flight at low altitude should be avoided during bird migration. It also advises pilots to climb when encountering birds en route, noting that flocks generally distribute themselves in a downward pattern with the lead bird at the highest altitude. It is noted that while over 90 percent of bird strikes occur below 3,000 feet AGL, ducks and geese are frequently encountered at altitudes up to 7,000 feet AGL.

Civil Air Patrol Corner

Greetings Cable Family

October for squadron 25 was a bit quiet and a bit busy as the holidays approach. Squadron 25 was visited by a troop of brownie scouts for an aerospace education event where these 1st and 2nd graders learned the basics of flight. They then built their own gliders from balsa wood and foam board. After construction and decorating (a great deal of rainbows and stars) they had a launch competition.

Commanding officer Lt. Dennis King started his teasing as a cadet orientation pilot.

The end of October was Civil Air Patrols annual wing conference was hosted in Visalia this year. Lt. King and Lt. Ching made the trek to learn more about emergency services, cadet programs and aerospace education.

Lt. King was awarded the aerospace education technician badge and squadron 25 as a whole was awarded the quality cadet unit award.

Just a reminder we are not all about cadet programs our senior program has been training around cable airport for elt searches as well prepping for drone missions in the last few months.

Squadron 25 is also selling world's finest chocolates for $1.00 dollar a piece for fundraising. Contact Lt. King for purchasing.

We are always looking for new recruits both cadets and seniors.

If you are interested in learning more about Civil Air Patrol please feel free to reach out to Lt. Dennis King at (626)367-4034
